SCHOOL OF METHODS FOR SUNDAY SCHOOL

Teachers—An Attractive Faculty Composed of Eminent Church Workers.

Preparations are being made for a School of Methods for Sunday School workers to be held at Hopkinsville, Ky., June 30-July 4, by the Kentucky Christian Bible School Association. The Disciples of Christ of Western Kentucky are looking forward to this as one of the most important religious events of the year. Reports indicate that a large number will matriculate for the school, which will be held at McLean College, Hopkinsville.

An attractive faculty has been announced by Dean Walter E. Frazer, State Superintendent for the Christian Sunday Schools of Kentucky, who is arranging all details. Among the lecturers and instructors engaged are: Miss Hazel A. Lewis, Cincinnati, National Elementary Superintendent of the Disciples of Christ, who will give daily lectures and demonstrations of elementary work in the Sunday School; Prof. W. C. Bower, of the College of the Bible, Lexington; W. J. Clarke, Kentucky Adult Bible Class Superintendent of the Disciples of Christ; and Rev. H. D. Smith, of Hopkinsville. Rev. J. J. Castleberry, of Mayfield, Rev. H. W. Elliott, of Sulphur, Dr. G. M. Buckner, of Owensboro, Rev. J. M. Gordon, of Madisonville, Pres. Kuykendall, of Hopkinsville, and Rev. J. T. Jenkins, of Elkton, will deliver special lectures.

In all about thirty lectures have been planned. Many schools will send representatives with the idea of giving their teachers and workers both pleasure and profit. The School of Methods will attract ministers and other religious workers, even though not directly engaged in Sunday School work.

During this school there will be periods for recreation, including lawn tennis, base ball, swimming, etc. However, work and not play will be the primary object of the school.

HOPEWELL.

May 26.—Rev. Royster held a missionary rally last Sunday at our church with good success and a handsome collection.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Shull spent last week with their daughter, Mrs. E. V. Bennett, of Central City.

Mr. Earl Engler, of Echoes, spent last Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Engler, here.

J. H. Miles was in Hartford last week, as a member of the Fiscal Court.

We have had no rain for over 6 weeks. Wheat and oats are light and grass is very short. Farmers can't finish planting corn until it rains.

Mr. C. G. Taylor recently went to see Judge W. B. Taylor, of Williams Mines, who has been sick for some time and is not improving very much yet.

Bond Brothers, of Elizabethtown, have bought Mr. Riley McDowell's timber, near Rockport, and put a mill there to saw it into crossties.

CENTERTOWN.

May 26.—On account of the recent dry weather, farming is at a standstill in this section.

Several from here are attending Quarterly Court at Hartford this week.

Candidates are thick in this section of the county.

Mr. Claude Chapman, who has been at work for some time in Tennessee, is at home on a visit.

Mr. John Tichenor has gone to Tennessee.

Several parties in and around this place have the automobile fever.

A very small crop of tobacco will be put out in this section.

New Cure For Baldness.

Since the days of old Rameses, if not earlier—they've been discovering alleged cures for baldness. That's a fact, isn't it? How many are there? Ask a bald gentleman who has a large circle of solicitous and attentive friends and listen calmly to his remarks. Then tell him about the latest discovery—that made by Explorer Ernest Shackleton, who tells Londoners that the cold air of the polar regions cures and prevents baldness. Of course, if your friend can't go to the Arctic regions long enough to grow some new hair, tell him—gently, kindly, of course—to poke his head into the family refrigerator for a few weeks and to report results to you by 'phone. In this way you'll be able to test the Shackleton discovery at no inconvenience to yourself.—[Detroit Free Press.

SMALLHOUS.

May 26.—Mr. Alva Calloway, wife and son, Misses Maude Calloway and Miss Rena Tichenor, of Centertown, visited in our vicinity Sunday.

Misses Fannie and Ellen Lawrence, Greenville, are the guests of Mr. W. T. Lawrence and family.

Mr. Tom Robertson and family, of Ala., are visiting relatives here.

Mrs. Lizzie Withrow is visiting her son at Hot Springs, Ark.

Miss Maude Shultz, of Narrows, visited relatives here from Friday until to-day.

Mrs. Mary Ann Tichenor died at her home here after a few days illness of locked bowels and was buried at the "Aunt Nellie Davis" burying ground Saturday.

Messrs. Sutton Reid, of Owensboro; Miller Reid, of Rockport, Ky.; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ashby, of West Providence vicinity, were at the bedside of Mrs. Mary Tichenor Friday.

Mr. F. E. Drake and family, of Owensboro, are visiting Mr. Oppie Kittinger and family.

Mrs. Maggie Faught is visiting her daughter, Mrs. David Oldham, near Centertown, who is quite ill.

Mr. R. P. Bennett and wife went to Hartford Friday.

Mr. Seymour Bennett went to Centertown Saturday.

Mr. Arnold Bennett attended Sunday School at Centertown Sunday morning.

Mr. Spicer and wife, of Nelson, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boone.

Beacon Lodge No. 273, I. O. O. F., McHenry, Ky.

Whereas, it has pleased the Supreme Ruler of the universe to call from labor to refreshment, on the 5th of April, our dearly beloved brother, E. G. Burton, who had been a member of Beacon Lodge No. 273, for about 15 years, having the cause deeply at heart, and being a most zealous Odd Fellow, therefore be it

Resolved, that while we deeply deplore the death of our brother and grieve at his loss, we submit with reverence to the edict that has called him.

Resolved, that we extend to his family and relatives our sincerest sympathy.

Resolved, that a page be set apart in the record book of our lodge as a memorial, and that these resolutions be spread thereon, a copy sent to the family, and that they be published in the Hartford Herald and Republican.

A slight cold in a child or a grown person holds possibilities of the gravest nature. Croup may come on suddenly in the night, bronchitis or pneumonia may develop, and severe catarrhal troubles and consumption are possible results. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound nips a cold at the outset, cures croup quickly, checks a deep-seated racking cough, and heals inflamed membranes. It does not constipate and contains no opiates. Refuse substitutes. For sale by all dealers. (Advertisement.)

FORSAKES TITLE FOR LEPER'S LIFE

Sir George Turner to Devote All His Time to Sufferers.

HOPES TO FIND A REMEDY.

Is Victim of Dread Disease Himself and Thinks There is Great Possibility of Discovering a Cure For It—To Work In South Africa and India—Has Lived In Seclusion at Exeter.

London.—Although Sir George Turner is afflicted with leprosy as the result of his heroic self sacrifice in working among lepers in South Africa, he has no intention of abandoning his active work among the sufferers from that disease, but has decided to devote the remainder of his life to lepers.

He has just offered his services to the mission to lepers in India and the east, but it is felt that there is greater scope for his work in South Africa, where he knows all the conditions, and he will probably return to that field of labor. He is full of brave hope that he may be able to do something more for his fellow sufferers.

In an interview Sir George said that his treatment of lepers thus far had been on the general principles of making lepers more comfortable and retarding the advance of the disease. There was a great possibility, he thought, that some remedy might be found.

"Generally speaking," he said, "people have a very erroneous idea with regard to the contagiousness of leprosy. In my opinion leprosy is usually, if not always, spread by contagion, but most lepers are not nearly so dangerous to the public as a person suffering from phthisis."

Since the terrible day that he made the dread discovery that he was a victim of leprosy Sir George has lived in comparative retirement near Exeter. He has received numerous invitations to social functions and has invariably replied: "I will come if you don't mind my being a leper."

FRANCE TO SPEND $2,000,000.

Wakes Up to the Trade Opportunities in West Indies.

Paris.—The appropriations for improvements in the French West Indies, notably at Pointe à Pitre, Guadeloupe, and Fort de France, Martinique, in anticipation of the opening of the Panama canal amount to nearly $2,000,000, the chamber of deputies having awakened to the fact that France had made no preparation to benefit by that event.

Colonial Minister le Brun (now war minister) sent an important mission to the islands last year, and its report and Minister le Brun's energy brought about the present appropriations.

BUREAU TO DRAFT BILLS.

La Follette Wants Its Chief to Be Really Fit.

Washington.—A legislative drafting bureau to draft or revise bills or amendments at the request of any committee or ten members of either house of congress is proposed in a bill introduced by Senator La Follette.

Its chief is to be appointed solely on grounds of fitness and without reference to political affiliations.

"Singing Mice" For Harvard. Cambridge, Mass.—"Singing mice" are the most recent addition to the collection of rodents under the observation of Charles Cohn of the Harvard physiological department.

The five rodent vocalists, all females, were found by a New Yorker who was attracted to his tool chest by sounds of high chattering that resembled more the notes of canaries than mice.

Pardons Soldier Who Didn't Kneel. Madrid.—The government has canceled the punishment inflicted on a Protestant soldier for refusing to kneel during a mass at Ferrol and will publish a regulation drawn up in such a manner that a repetition of the incident will be impossible in the future. The soldier had been condemned to six months' imprisonment.

TAPPED THE WIRES.

The Good Housewife Had a Pretty Keen Nose For News.

People who would normally think it a disgrace to eavesdrop or spy on their neighbors seem utterly without conscience when the telephone is in question and will rush to the instrument every time the bells ring, whether it is their call or not.

As an evidence of the extreme to which it can be carried I well remember a case where for some unknown reason the bells beyond one of the stations seemed in constant trouble. One time they would operate perfectly, five minutes later they would ring so faintly that it was hard to distinguish the call. The manager was on the verge of prostration, as he had gone over the line a dozen times, trimmed every tree that could possibly have been in the way, adjusted bells—in fact, done everything he could think of.

In despair he came to me and told me his troubles. I suggested that we drive out to the last "good" station and, to his surprise, asked him if he dared walk in without rapping. He said he could, and the two of us entered very unexpectedly, the telephone being in the kitchen at the back of the house.

The picture we found was, to say the least, amusing. The good housewife in her craze not to miss anything had actually rigged up a clamp to hold the receiver on the back of a rocking chair and spent her leisure time in comfortably listening to every word that went over the line. She had even gone so far as to devise a method of opening the primary circuit on her own instrument so that the batteries would not run down.

This is an extreme case, but shows how far some folks can go. The remedy: Just plain common decency and honesty, a bylaw authorizing the manager to take out any telephone whose user is guilty of such dishonesty and a manager with backbone enough to do his duty.—Farm and Fireside.

HE PASSED IT ON.

The Diplomat Saved Himself by a Quick Witted Ruse.

The passing of the court fool as an institution did not mean that kings had ceased to take pleasure in the sort of nonsense that the jesters had been licensed to perpetrate. King Frederick William I. of Prussia was an incorrigible joker and greatly enjoyed testing the cleverness of his ministers and advisers by planning embarrassing situations, from which they could extricate themselves only by the exercise of the quickest wit. However, "Das Buch Fur Alle" declares that the king was almost as ready to enjoy his own discomfiture as that of his intended victim.

One day at a small dinner the king, happening to be in the mood to play a prank, chose as his victim one of his ministers seated at his left. After a moment's thought his majesty leaned toward the courtier on his right and, giving him a gentle slap on the cheek, said, "Pass it."

As the tap was passed from guest to guest round the table, the king's intentions became apparent. The minister at Frederick William's left would either have to commit lese majeste by slapping his sovereign or admit himself beaten and be the laughing stock of the table.

Although the company was already in a gale of merriment at his expense, the minister was not at all ready to acknowledge a defeat. Just as the blow was passed to him he let a knife fall clattering to the floor between the king and himself. Immediately a servant sprang forward, picked the knife up and handed it to the minister, but what was the lucky's astonishment to receive, instead of a word of thanks, a tap on the cheek. The minister by his wit had saved the situation without violating the rules of the game. The king was the first to join in the laughter and applause that greeted the minister's cleverness.

Australian Names.

Mark Twain, native of a country whose place names won the admiration of Robert L. Stevenson, was himself delighted by the place names of Australia. As an amusement for a hot day he collected a list of eighty-one, including such soul satisfying polysyllables as Murriwillumbah, Yarranyackah, Kondoparinga and Jamberoo, and put sixty-six of them into a poem of forty-eight lines. "These are good words for poetry," he says. "But the best word in that list and the most musical and gurgly is Woolloomoolloo."—London Chronicle.

Couldn't Get to Rehearsal.

An actor, being unable to find work on the stage and needing his means, finally obtained the promise of a conductor's job on the street car lines.

"When do I report?"

"At 4 a. m. sharp," said the manager. "Shades of Booth!" exclaimed the Thespians. "I couldn't stand such hours. The fines would offset the salary. Why, I'd be late for rehearsal every day."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Hungry One.

"Your stomach is so affected that I fear we shall have to operate for its removal."

"All right. Remove it. I never use it anyhow."

"You never use it? What business are you in?"

"I'm a poet."—Houston Post.

A Parallel.

Mr. Merry—Jack Jones, I am told, laughed while he was being married. Mr. Grouch—Well, haven't men been known to joke on the scaffold?—Baltimore American.
